Let's make your space together

Wherever you want

We change, and so does the style of our work and our office space arrangement needs. Today, we are looking for innovative solutions that will allow us to be mobile and more flexible. In the face of swiftly changing trends, we should create office spaces that can be rearranged quickly. Spaces that adapt to us and our needs.

Simon Schossböck

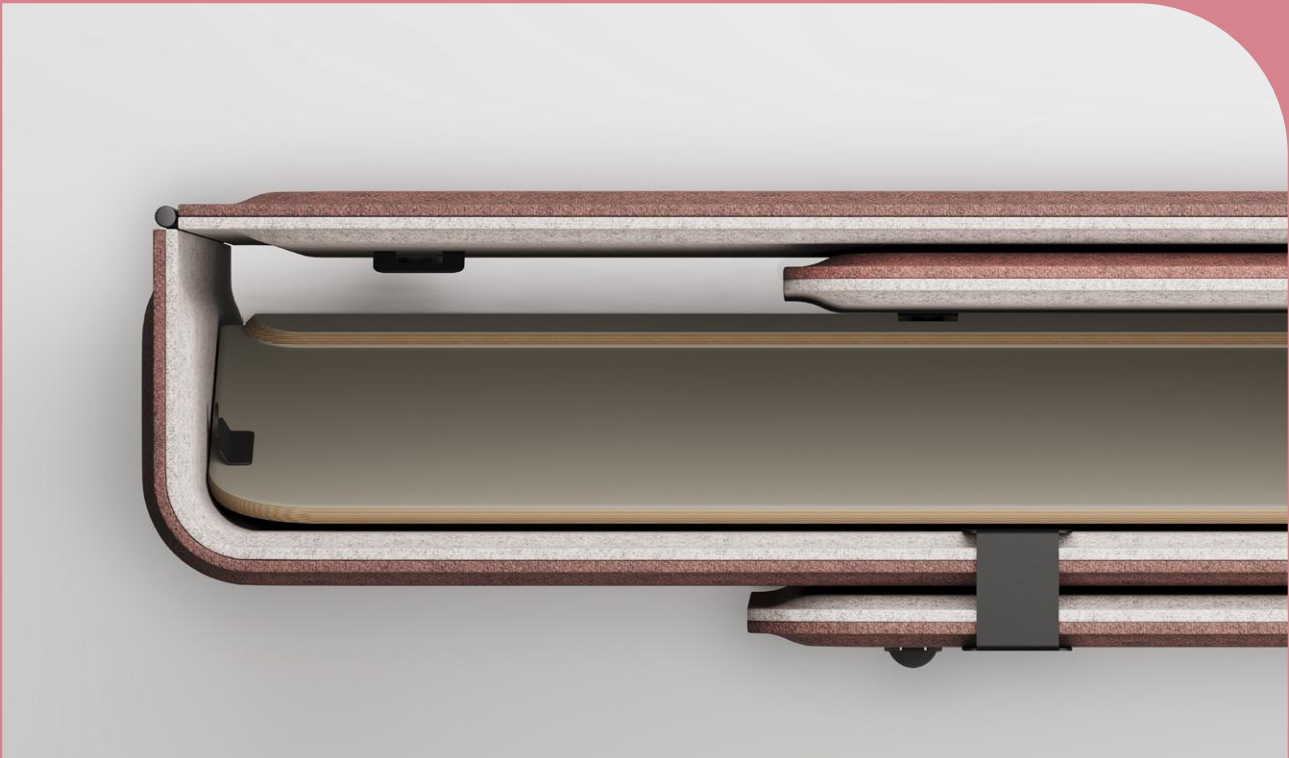

‘To me, the most pleasing products are always those that can captivate through their particular simplicity. Those that can elicit a smile or even astonishment from the viewer with their clever function or simply a completely new idea. Brainy is just a great example of such a product, which is why I am particularly happy about the result of this project’.

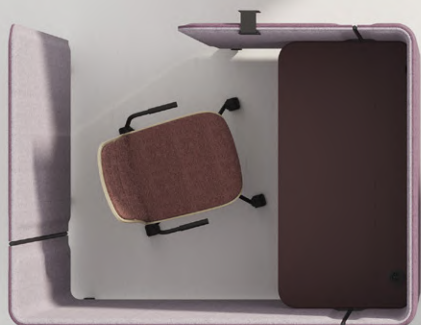

Simon Schossböck – the designer of Brainy
